manufactus develops innovative software solutions to optimize processes in the area of production and logistic.

Since more than 10 years manufactus is one of the leading providers of electronic Kanban systems. Our e-Kanban system IKS (Integrated Kanban System) is used by many successful companies worldwide. The IKS system supports internal Kanban loops but also the integration of external suppliers.

KANBAN Implementation - Typical Mistakes

More and more companies recognize the benefits and huge potential of PULL systems against classic MRP based processes which are normally created on PUSH logic.

To manage the material flow by a PULL system the most companies are using the KANBAN principle. Kanban is easy to understand and based on so called "self controlling loops" which reduce the administrative effort at the daily business and create a lot of additional benefits.

But it seems that the implementation of a Kanban system creates difficulties and problems for some companies!

For this reason we have summarized some typical mistakes at the Kanban implementation process (of course, there are some more topics which can also cause problems).
Additionally we have added some tips which you should think about to avoid the described mistakes and to implement a Kanban system successfully.

Here you will find some typical mistakes at the Kanban implementation process and our tips to avoid these problems!

Typical mistakes	Our tips to avoid these mistakes
Selection of wrong Kanban parts The items have not been analyzed (correctly) and the criteria for Kanban parts haven't been defined. So parts are managed by Kanban which make no sense or can only be handled with difficulties .	Start with an ABC-XYZ analysis! Especially an ABC analysis can normally be realized in a fast and easy way. Such an analysis is a great tool to get a "better feeling" of your own parts.

You want to talk about additional mistakes? I'm always interested in sharing some experiences!
